Hope, DeQueen Meet Tonight in Opening Game

Hope and DeQueen meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Hammons Stadium for the opening football game of the season and old man weather has posted notice he might be the deciding factor.

Drenched for the past two days the Hope field, although well drained, will be slippery and damp. This could hold fast starts and passing on to a minimum.

The game is a tossup. While Hope, on paper, holds a weight advantage, DeQueen has the experience. Breaks could be the deciding factor. The Bobcats have possibilities of being a winning team while the Leopards are already proven.

Practically the same eleven fought its way to the state playoff in Class A last year.

Both elevens are ready and as usual will be fighting hard to get the initial victory of the season. Barring more rain a capacity is likely to be on hand including a large group from DeQueen.

The Bobcats squad:

Compared to Conditions in Korea, Japan Is Just Like Heaven, Boyle Writes Wife

(Editor's note: Hal Boyle is back in Korea. He wrote this column in the form of a letter to his wife, in Tokyo before returning to the battlefronts.)

By HAL BOYLE

A letter to Frances:
Well, honey Fanny, as the boys in the army say "I got it made." I'm here Darned if I ever thought coming to Tokyo would be a thrill, but right now I would almost be willing to vote Japan in as the 49th state.

Returning here after more than six weeks in Korea is like stepping from a smelly, muddy ditch into a banquet room at the Waldorf.

No fleas in my bed, no nasty war noises overhead, and steak instead of pork luncheon meat for dinner. This isn't Japan. It is really heaven.

I hitch-hiked over with Don Whitehead. What should be waiting on the Korean airport as we drove up but General MacArthur's own private four engine plane—the famous "Bataan."

Doug wasn't aboard himself, but one of his one-star lads was. He saw us pawing our feet bashfully in the dust and allowed as how he wanted to go and didn't mind riding in a beat up old five-star plane.

And figuring we might wait a long time until a six-star general's plane came along with a better offer, we bowed to destiny and said yes.

The ride was a real treat. The brigadier general — a nice fatherly man named Wright — pointed out a volcano to us and had one of the crewmen bring us a box lunch. We stretched out on seats that must have been warmed at one time or another by Doug himself and kept murmuring between mouthfuls:

"It only costs a little more to travel first class."
Like all those who return from a battle area to so-called civilization we were full of self pity and felt alone appreciated the full horror of war. But as we stepped off the plane at a field near Tokyo and his car and kissed his wife goodbye.

She drove away with her chin up and tears streaming down her cheeks, and suddenly I was humbled with the knowledge that there was more to war than I would ever know. For the first time I really understood the

War Stalls Prescott Paper Mill

Prescott, Sept. 15 — (P) — Plans for a paper mill near here have been postponed indefinitely because of the present national emergency.

James R. Bemis, president of the White Star Paper company, made the announcement yesterday.

He said only possibility that the plant might be built is that the government might grant a priority for materials to build it for manufacture of war equipment.

British to Send 5,500 Troops to Korea

London, Sept. 15 — (P) — The British government plans on some 5,500 troops being in action in Korea soon, with 150,000 trained troops available next year for any European emergency.

The house of commons last night approved these and other military preparations by the Labor government after a three-day debate on cabinet defense policy.

Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell disclosed that about 4,000 more soldiers — a brigade group — will be enroute to Korea "before many weeks have passed." Two British battalions already are in Korea, along with British fleet units.

Referring to Western European defense preparations, Shinwell said Britain will be able to provide 10 divisions within a year. These would consist of territorial — British parallel of the American national guard.

Britain's regular army now consists of 184,000 troops.

Mighty 'Mo' Takes Part in Shelling

Tokyo, Sept. 15 — (P) — The U. S. S. Missouri—the world's mightiest ship — went into action today in the Korean war.

The "Mighty Mo" stood off the east coast of Korea blazing away with 16-inch guns at Samchok, a Red-held port on the Sea of Japan.

Samchok is north of where South Korean marines landed on the east coast, and directly across Korea from Inchon, where U. S. marines and doughboys went ashore behind enemy lines.

The battleship made an 11,000-mile speed dash to the Sea of Japan from Norfolk, Va.

Enroute, she encountered a hurricane off Cape Hatteras, dodged a tropical storm at Panama, and rode into Korean waters on the rail of a typhoon.

The big battleship went aground Jan. 17 off Old Point Comfort, Va., in Chesapeake Bay, to the chagrin of the entire navy. For 15 days she sat there, defying every effort to set her free.

On Feb. 1 she became afloat again thanks to the combined pulling power of 14 tug boats.

The chairman of the Finance Committee, Mrs. Perry Moses, announced that sometime during the fall a Talent Show would be presented by the students, parents and teachers.

A most interesting message from the President of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers was given by Mrs. Lawrence Martin, after which Mr. Jones discussed the Bond Issue to be decided in the September 26th School Board Election.

All members, and most especially all officers, were urged to attend the School of Information to be held at the First Methodist Church on Friday, September 22nd. After the benediction refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed by the 60 present. Mrs. Blair Shuford, membership chairman, reported that dues were paid for 76 members at this meeting.

A GI's Letter to His Small Daughters Was Received After He Was Killed in Battle

Collingdale, Pa., Sept. 15 — (P) — A young soldier in Korea took a piece of notebook paper from his helmet and wrote a letter to his two small daughters back home.

That letter was delivered yesterday to the home of six-year-old Rose Marie McCormick and her sister, Joan, three.

Three days ago, their mother las notified that Pte. John J. McCormick, 28, paratrooper veteran of World War Two and infantryman in Korea, had been killed in action.

This was what Private McCormick wrote to "Dean Joannie and Rose Marie:"

"This is daddy. I want you to listen and pay attention while I read this to you. Just try and make believe I was there, talking to you.

"Joannie, I don't think you'll remember me because you were a little baby when I had to go away, but I used to sit and hold you a lot, and when you were a bad little girl, I used to make you sit in a chair until you were good; but I always loved you a lot and I was very proud of you.

"Rose Marie, you should remember me because I used to take you out with me a lot, and I used to buy you a lot of candy and soda, and I used to feel so good when people used to say you had eyes like mine. Remember the little puppy I bought you? Your mummy used to tie a little pink ribbon around its neck and you used to carry it in your arms. You looked awfully cut.

"I want you both to know that I'd be with you if I could, but there are a lot of bad men in the world, and if they were allowed to do what they wanted to do, little girls like you wouldn't be allowed to go to church on Sunday or be able to go to the school you wanted to.

"So I have to help fight these men and keep them from coming where you and mummy live. It might take a long while, and maybe daddy will have to go and help God up in heaven, and if I do, I always want you both to be good for mummy, because she is the best mummy in the whole wide world.

"She has always taken care of you while I have been away. You see, kids, I happened to be caught in two wars inside 10 years, and the reason I am where I am today is because I am fighting for what I think is right.

"That's one thing I always want both of you to remember. If your conscience tells you something is right, always stand up for it. You might be ridiculed for doing so, but in the long run you'll always find out that people respect you more for doing so."

"When you grow up to be young ladies, don't ever forget all that mummy has done for you. You have often gone without, and she herself so that both of you could have nice things. I want you to do as she says; go to church on Sundays and you can always pray for daddy.

"So remember, kids, when you grow up, save this letter in case I'm not there to talk to you and try and remember all I am saying, for it's for your good, and because I love you and mummy so much.

"I'll be in a hole fighting in a few days, in a place called Korea, so I'm sending you all the love that's in my heart on this sheet of paper. I carry your picture, and mummy's next to my heart, and if I have to go to help God, you'll know that the last thought I had on this earth was for the two of you and mummy. All my love and kisses. Be good and God bless you, Daddy."

Map Strategy Again 'Phone Rate Increase

Little Rock, Sept. 15 (UP)—Embattled city attorneys of Arkansas today were mapping their strategy in their forthcoming fight on higher telephone rates in the state.

On Oct. 17, the city lawyers, led by T. J. Gentry of Little Rock, will begin cross-examination of the galaxy of witnesses who during the past eight days have trooped to the stand to testify in the hearing of the state public service commission. Southwestern Bell Telephone company called experts ranging from accountants to college professors in its effort to prove that the rate increases totaling $4,820,000 a year are justified.

Joining with the city attorneys in the cross examination will be special attorney for the commission, Tom Fitzhugh.

Briefly summarized, the phone company's testimony has fallen into four parts:

1. An effort to refute charges of "uncontrolled monopoly" hurled at the American Telephone and Telegraph Company—Western Electric-Bell System setup by the city attorneys and their expert, Dr. John Bauer, a New York utilities expert.
2. Testimony as to the valuation of the company's Arkansas property, to establish the investment base on which it is seeking the requested return.
3. The opinion of experts as to what a utility such as the company must make to constitute a fair return.
4. Testimony aimed at justifying the requested rate increase as reasonable and fair.

On their first point the company called A. T. and T. officials and Western Electric representatives as well as their own experts to reveal the complicated set-up governing the fair-thing communications system. The men claimed that the intricate set-up actually saves the company money—a saving which they claimed is passed on to the customer.

In the second phase, the company called Warren Baldwin, a Little Rock real estate man, to testify on his appraisal of the company's real property in Arkansas. Also called was Dr. Paul R. Rider of Washington university in St. Louis, to tell of an elaborate "sampling" of company property to determine its physical condition. In addition, a number of the firm's own engineers told of how the valuation of $44,181,000 for the company's Arkansas property was reached.

...and 824 air miles west of Tokyo.

Inchon's badly pounded industries produced railroads, rolling stock and equipment, machinery and steel.

During World War II, when Korea was under Japan's domination, the Japanese manufactured their two-man submarines at Inchon.

Twelve miles northeast of Inchon is Kimpo airfield, which has been badly beaten up by Allied air power.

Before World War II, Inchon ranked second to Pusan, Allied port on the southeast coast, in volume of commerce. But the harbor has one disadvantage. At low tide the channel is only 12 feet deep.

When the tide is in, the channel is 40 feet deep. The extreme tides severely handicap shipping. Because of the extreme tide levels, vessels can remain at the wharves only a few hours.

with brand new equipment, overflowing with wisecracks. The five weeks brought great changes. Their cockiness has been replaced by a quieter dignity.

They know they are good. They have proved it. But they also know the price that war takes, and they know what is ahead of them now.

Many faces are missing in the weathered ranks which trooped aboard the big gray ships. Some of the missing are in hospitals, recovering from wounds. Others will never leave Korea.

These last few hours have been spent in various ways. The mail sacks bulge with the before-the-battle letters scribbled wherever there were a few square feet of space to prop up a writing pad.

Nearly everyone has slept for hours on end, curled up on the decks or stretched out on bunks, collecting the time lost in foxholes and during night vigils in the front lines.

Every deck has a dozen card games going, cribbage, poker, and all the rest.

The rifles and machine guns have been cleaned and oiled carefully for the 20th time. On them was lavished the loving care that comes from long attachment.

The paper work goes on throughout the ship. Various sections handle the thousand and one details associated with war. In the upper deck staterooms weary senior officers confer over top secret maps and documents, memorizing details, making changes and suggestions. Any of the items might mean the life of any part of the assault force.

There is no rest for them, and the responsibility is the heaviest in the world. They are the ones who give the word that sends the attacks into high gear. Once started, there is no turning back.

Britain, France Against the U. S. Plan of Including Germans in Defense Program

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The most important problem (and certainly one of the knot-test) before the big three foreign ministers (Britain, France and America) in their current New York meeting has had to do with what part Western Germany shall be allotted in the defense of Western Europe.

It has been a matter of concern though not of surprise to find both British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman differing with Secretary of State Acheson on this vital issue.

America has taken the position that a defense program must include German manpower and resources if it is to be effective. The two European Allies, having faced the first fierce rush of German armed might in two world wars, haven't been prepared to go the whole way with this idea.

However, the indications at this writing are that the conference is likely to achieve a compromise that will bring Germany into the picture on the basis of at least limited partnership.

Despite British and French fears, there has been no argument among the big three about the need of German aid in the defense program. It is agreed that there can be no successful defense of Western Europe without German participation. The question has been the extent of the aid at this juncture.

Britain and France have hesitated to accept the idea of immediate rearmament of Germany as part of the defense program, although they were understood to favor the strengthening of the German police force so that it could handle internal disorders. However, they now have agreed to participate in a full discussion by all of the Atlantic pact foreign ministers of using German troops in the defense projected under the North Atlantic treaty.

In this connection President Truman's decision to help strengthen Western Europe against possible aggression is to be made effective as soon as possible. General Mark W. Clark, chief of the U. S. Army ground forces, says troops to strengthen the U. S. garrison in Europe will begin to arrive in Germany before spring.

So Germany, quite logically, is to be made an integral part of the defense of Western Europe, despite her transgressions.

Battle-Tested Marines Set for Action

By ROBERT C. MILLER

With U. S. Marines, At Sea, Sept. 15 (UP)—This is it. This is the one we have been waiting for.

Within a few hours the ships of this blacked-out task force will begin the shore bombardment to pave the way for the landing craft which will carry the marines in for what we hope to be the final battle of the Korean war.

This is our Sunday punch. We will kayo the North Koreans.

There are no excuses for this one. Everything has been planned and worked out for weeks. The supplies are adequate. The men are trained. The plans are drawn down to the merest detail.

Everything that can be done to insure the success of this operation has been done. Prayers have been said for divine guidance.

This ship is like a highly trained boxer during those last tense hours before the bell. The long weeks of the training camp are finished. There is nothing to do but wait.

The ship is crammed with men, stacked in every corner. In the holds are the deadliest weapons we possess. They are to arm the men for the attack.

Every marine aboard is a combat veteran who came to a South Korean port directly from the front lines. They were loaded at the same port where they arrived early in August.

But it was a different group of men who trudged aboard this ship after five weeks of battle in Korea. These are the veterans who came from the states, cocky and eager, part of the defense program, although they were understood to favor the strengthening of the German police force so that it could handle internal disorders. However, they now have agreed to participate in a full discussion by all of the Atlantic pact foreign ministers of using German troops in the defense projected under the North Atlantic treaty.

Little Rock, Sept. 15 (UP)—Embattled city attorneys of Arkansas today were mapping their strategy in their forthcoming fight on higher telephone rates in the state.

On Oct. 17, the city lawyers, led by T. J. Gentry of Little Rock, will begin cross-examination of the galaxy of witnesses who during the past eight days have trooped to the stand to testify in the hearing of the state public service commission. Southwestern Bell Telephone company called experts ranging from accountants to college professors in its effort to prove that the rate increases totaling $4,820,000 a year are justified.

Joining with the city attorneys in the cross examination will be special attorney for the commission, Tom Fitzhugh.

Briefly summarized, the phone company's testimony has fallen into four parts:

1. An effort to refute charges of "uncontrolled monopoly" hurled at the American Telephone and Telegraph Company—Western Electric-Bell System setup by the city attorneys and their expert, Dr. John Bauer, a New York utilities expert.
2. Testimony as to the valuation of the company's Arkansas property, to establish the investment base on which it is seeking the requested return.
3. The opinion of experts as to what a utility such as the company must make to constitute a fair return.
4. Testimony aimed at justifying the requested rate increase as reasonable and fair.

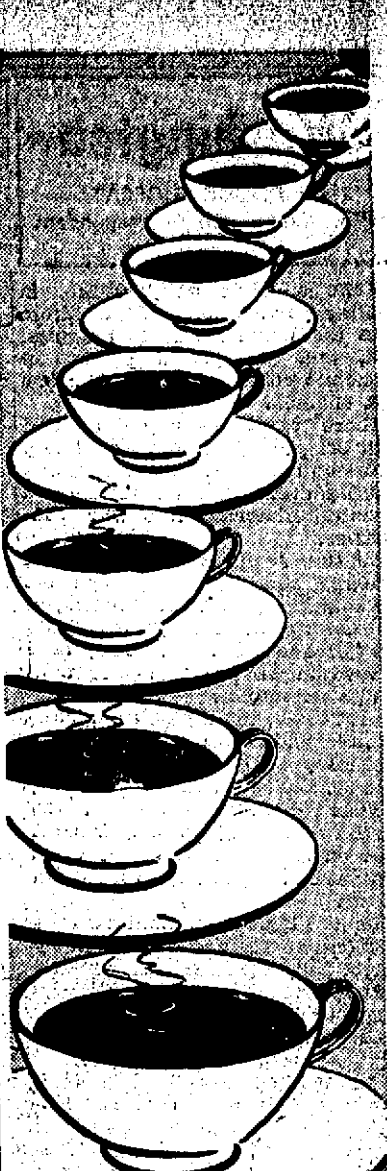

On their first point the company called A. T. and T. officials and Western Electric representatives as well as their own experts to reveal the complicated set-up governing the fair-thing communications system. The men claimed that the intricate set-up actually saves the company money—a saving which they claimed is passed on to the customer.

In the second phase, the company called Warren Baldwin, a Little Rock real estate man, to testify on his appraisal of the company's real property in Arkansas. Also called was Dr. Paul R. Rider of Washington university in St. Louis, to tell of an elaborate "sampling" of company property to determine its physical condition. In addition, a number of the firm's own engineers told of how the valuation of $44,181,000 for the company's Arkansas property was reached.

Weather Is Factor on Meat Prices

Washington, Sept. 14 —(P)—The weather is threatening to keep a lot of beef away from butcher shops this fall and winter — and to hold meat prices higher than they otherwise might be.

The midwestern corn belt has stayed cool and wet — preventing proper development and ripening of corn before killing frosts arrive.

Faced with the prospect that a large quantity of corn may not harden properly before frost, many farmers are rushing out to buy cattle to feed the prospective "soft" corn. In doing so, they are competing with slaughterers for cattle which otherwise would be killed now.

"Soft" corn cannot be stored for long and cannot be sold, except at a sharp price discount. Neither is it eligible for government price-support loans.

Consequently, about the only way a farmer can get anything out of this immature corn is to feed it as soon as possible to meat animals, and hope that the eventual return from the livestock will give him something for the grain.

Corn needs hot weather during August and September to make it ripen and mature so that it can be stored for long and normal livestock feeding operations. But weather in the midwest during the past six weeks has been abnormally cold and wet.

As a consequence, much of the grain may not mature fully before killing frosts arrive. The demand for cattle for grain feeding in the corn belt has been very strong during the past week or so. Heavy buying of cattle from western ranges — both by packers to meet consumer needs and by farmers for feeding — has sent prices to record levels for the year.

This diversion of cattle from slaughter pens may mean less beef in the months immediately ahead, but it will mean a larger tonnage next year than otherwise would be the case.

Cattle which would be slaughtered will begin at 12:45 p. m. and the program will start at one o'clock.

A re-styled, 4-wheel drive station wagon, now powered by Willys' high-compression four-cylinder, F-head "Hurricane" engine, has been added to Willys-Overland's famous line of utility vehicles. The all-steel station wagon is particularly adaptable to off-the-road operations of oil workers, contractors and foresters both here and abroad. With its four-wheel traction the vehicle can negotiate grades up to 66.73 per cent.

Toledo, Ohio — Willys-Overland Motors, pioneer of the 4-wheel drive station wagon, today introduced its new 1950 4-wheel drive all-steel station wagon which features added power, sleeker lines and all-around improved performance.

The new 4-wheel drive version of Willys' famous line of all-steel station wagons was introduced last spring. Strong demand for this ever, prompted Willys-Overland to type of passenger car, in both the export and domestic markets, how advance production on this model. Lyman W. Slack, vice-president in charge of distribution, said:

The new station wagon designed primarily for travel in off-the-road areas such as in oil fields, through mud, snow and sand, and over the thousands of miles of unimproved roads in this country and abroad, is now powered by the cylinder F-head "Hurricane" engine.

Increased gradeability of 15.4 per cent has been achieved with the installation of the new power unit in the station wagon.

Lines of the new vehicle follow the Willys pattern of its trucks, sedan delivery and 2-wheel drive station wagon which were unveiled earlier this year.

The 4-wheel drive unit has a "V" front with five crossbars of chrome. The hood and fenders have rounded lines imparting beauty to the vehicle and adding strength and rigidity to the complete front of the body.

The interior appointments have been redesigned. The instruments are arranged in a cluster for easy visibility and quick comprehension. Controls are within easy reach of the driver. The ashtray has been relocated below the instrument cluster for easy access to both driver and passenger. Passengers in the rear seat are provided with trays located at either side of the car.

The station wagon is equipped with a horizontal finger grip cross-bar type of steering wheel for ease of steering.

Wheelbase of the vehicle is 104 1/2 inches. Overall length is 176 3/4 inches. Road clearance is listed as 8-7-8 inches in front of 8-1-8 inches at the rear. Vehicle cargo space is 98 cubic feet with the rear seat removed.

Standard equipment on the 4-wheel drive station wagon includes dome lamp, two sun visors, dual windshield wipers, oil bath air cleaner, dual horns and a wrap-around rear bumper.

The all-steel station wagon still retains many of the characteristics which proved popular in the preceding model such as all-around visibility, commanding view of the road over the hood and short turning radius.

Vehicle colors being made available are the two-tone Chesapeake and Potomac Gray; the tri-color Tunisiana Red, Clear Maple and Mahogany Brown; Copper Bronze Metallic and Pine Green Metallic.

McClellan Gets Growers Penalty Lifted

Washington, Sept. 15 —(P)—The senate has approved a proposal of Senator McClellan (D-Ark) to relieve cotton and sugar beet growers of about $250,000 of penalty payments due because Mexican laborers they imported cannot be accounted for.

The senate yesterday accepted an amendment McClellan proposed to a supplementary money bill to wipe out bond forfeitures claimed by the immigration and naturalization service. The amendment still must be accepted by the house.

Farmers are required to post bonds for each laborer they import from Mexico, and present law provides for the bonds to be forfeited if the farmers can not prove the workers returned to Mexico.

Fort Smith Soldier Killed in Action

Washington, Sept. 15 —(P)—Pfc. Donald L. Jones, son of Mrs. Johnnie Jones, Fort Smith, Ark., has been killed in action in Korea, the defense department announced today.

Pfc. Charles Edward Smith, son of Mrs. Laura Liggins, Dermott, was reported wounded. Both were army personnel.

Ex-Newsman Charged With Theft

Little Rock, Sept. 15 —(P)—Paul E. Coughlin, former co-publisher of the weekly West Memphis News, was charged today on federal indictments charging he was a party to automobile theft.

FBI Agent S. S. Alden, in charge of the Little Rock office, said Coughlin, 32, surrendered at Daytona Beach, Fla., last night, and today would be taken before U. S. Commissioner T. V. Cashen at Jacksonville, Fla.

He was indicted by a U. S. grand jury here Tuesday on charges of interstate transportation of a stolen automobile (from West Memphis to Memphis); of possessing and concealing a stolen automobile, and of conspiracy to violate the national auto theft act.

On Aug. 28, Coughlin announced he was selling his interest in the West Memphis News to his brother, Jack, with whom he had operated it for several years, and that he would return to active duty as a navy flier. He is a veteran of World War Two.

The newspaper has been an outspoken critic of "political machines" and "corrupt politics" in East Arkansas.

The conspiracy counts against Coughlin seek to "link him" with Robert Bruce Wyers, a former short-time employee of the newspaper, now serving a three-year sentence in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta guilty plea to automobile theft charges.

Coughlin is accused of conspiring with Wyers to conceal ownership and dispose of a number of automobiles stolen in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana and transported to Tennessee, Kentucky and Mississippi.

On conviction of the conspiracy charge, a fine of as much as $10,000 or a prison sentence of up to five years or both fine and sentence may be imposed. On each of the other two counts, maximums are $5,000 fines or five year sentences or both fines and sentences.

Monday when efforts to put a $6,000,000 excess profits levy in the present bill failed in the house.

Speaker Rayburn ruled it was too late to insert new matter into the tax bill, which has already passed both houses in somewhat different forms and now awaits a smoothing out job by a house senate conference committee.

Wage Hikes in Auto Industry Continue

Detroit, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The pattern of cost-of-living wage boosts still is making headway in the automobile industry. New developments last night saw the five-year contract signed Labor day by the Ford Motor co. and the CIO United Auto Workers virtually assured approval and a new agreement worked out by the UAW and Bendix corp. The Ford pact—embodying an eight-cent hourly pay boost and a cost-of-living escalator clause—won the approval of the big UAW Local 600 by a vote of about 3-2; the union announced. That ratio, UAW spokesmen admitted, was "a lot closer than we expected." They had predicted "overwhelming" ratification. But they said the count of 15,576 votes in favor of the contract and 12,224 against it undoubtedly would be enough to assure approval when all the rank-and-file votes are in. Local 600, representing 65,000 production workers at Ford's big Rouge plant here, has more members than the rest of the Ford locals combined. The company employs about 110,000 production workers. Local 900, both in Detroit and the Buffalo, N. Y., unit—all by itself—Earlier the contract had been rejected by three good-sized locals—Highland park Local 400, Lincoln close margins. "There have been votes for ratification and the two repeat their nimble artistry of the big top in the film. Seven-year-old Gordon Gebbert, around whom much of the action takes place, is the son of non-theatrical parents who moved to California prior to the filming of "The Flame and the Arrow."

Compromise on Red Curbs Is Sought

Washington, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Senate House conferees set to work today on a compromise bill to impose drastic new curbs on Communists. The timetable for a congressional vacation may well hinge on when and how the job is done. Senator McCarran (D-Nev.), sponsor of the sweeping anti-Communist measure, which the senate passed 70 to 7 Tuesday, told reporters he expected the conference to start in mid-afternoon. McCarran, who will act as chairman of the conference, said he hoped an agreement could be reached by tonight. Chairman Wood (D-Ga.) of the house un-American activities committee and sponsor of the Communist registration bill passed by the house, said in a separate interview he expected little difficulty in "reaching an agreement on a good bill." But whether President Truman would approve any bill turned out by the conferees was uncertain. He was expected to have something to say on the subject at his weekly news conference. Mr. Truman asked for new legal weapons to use against saboteurs and spies. The McCarran bill gave him what he wanted, plus many things that he didn't. The measure includes provisions for registration of Communist and front organizations; the power to intern Reds in time of war invasion or insurrection; and some new ways to deport or bar aliens suspected of being subversive.

The contract boosted pay of Ford workers to an average of about $17.5 an hour and skilled workers got an extra five cents hourly. However, a good segment of the UAW membership apparently objected to its five-year duration with no provision for reopening. The new Bendix agreement will give a wage boost—its amount still unannounced—to 13,000 UAW employees in Detroit, South Bend, Ind., Teterboro, N. J., Elmira, N. Y., and North Hollywood, Calif. It grants a six-day walkout of 1,500 employees of Zenith carburetor division here and sends back to work 8,000 employees of the Bendix South Bend factory who struck yesterday. All the strikers were seeking wage increases. Of the pact, reached after negotiations in a local hotel, UAW Bendix department Director Martin Gerber said only that "we have reached an agreement on wages and an escalator clause similar to General Motors."

Details will be announced tomorrow in Buffalo, Gerber said, when representatives of all Bendix locals got together. Pact Council Plans Against Red Aggression

New York, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Decisions that will revolutionize the defenses of the West against possible Russian aggression are expected to be taken by the North Atlantic Treaty council which opens a two-day meeting here today. The foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France, as indicated by their own joint announcement, will recommend that the 12-nation council take "immediate effective steps" to create in Western Europe a unified military force capable of turning back any Red assault from the East. In addition Secretary of State Dean Acheson, with the assent of British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, will propose that provision be made for this force to include German units. Schuman, in the opinion of diplomatic experts, has thus put himself in position to be guided by the will of the majority on this controversial issue. Acheson, for his part, is expected to tell his colleagues of American plans to send reinforcements to Germany soon but to emphasize that the fulfillment of those plans depend on the willingness of the Atlantic pact allies to do their full share in defense preparations. The big power ministers completed a three-day conference here last night with an admission that much of the work they set out to accomplish had not been finished and, because of the 12-nation gathering, could not be finished today. The council meets today and Saturday; the Big Three therefore decided to reconvene Monday to wind up unfinished projects, mostly concerning Germany.

At the Monday session they are expected to approve steps towards ending the state of war with Germany, to direct the Allied high commissioners to give West Germany greater control over its own affairs, to okay a rise in the German steel production level and generally to speed up "the restoration of the position of Germany as a member of the family of free nations." That was the phrase used in an "interim communique" which the three issued last night to tell what they had been talking about but not what they had agreed, after they found they could not complete their work on time. Spanning two continents, to make "The Black Rose" Director Henry Hathaway's log book reads like a cross between the notes of an eager sightseer, the reminiscences of a managerie collector for a circus, and the diary of an enterprising movie director. Here are some of the items: Meknes, French Morocco, April 1949—Arrived here two days ago and expected to start shooting today, but when, what a place this is! This morning the temperature was 120 and in the afternoon a 160-mile gale from the nearby Sahara almost blew us off our feet. Quarzazate, French Morocco, April 23—Made arrangements with the Calid to round up 4,000 Arab extras, 1,000 camels and 400 horses. I should be working for Barnum & Bailey.

Desert of North Africa Near Tadoul, April 27—Put in the hardest working day of my life getting part of the great Mongol tournament on film. The vast desert and rolling hills of the Atlas mountains gave us a magnificent background for 1,000 camels, 350 crack Arab horsemen and over 2,000 natives to do their stuff. And do their stuff they did! These fierce, bloodthirsty games were right down their alley. Ran into trouble when I used a girl as interpreter to convey my instructions to the Arabs. Seems they don't take orders from a woman. Possibly a good idea?

Marrakech, French Morocco May Power, Orson Welles, Cecil Aubrey, Marrakech, French Morocco May 15—Tonight the Calid had Tyrone Power, Orson Welles, Cecil Aubrey, Jack Hawkins and myself to dinner. We ate with our fingers out of a common bowl. Not the cleanest way to eat, I suppose, but correct etiquette here.

Desert of North Africa Near Marrakech, May 22—Completed preparations to film the barbaric rope-walk sequence. Power says this the most weird and sadistic torture that movie scripts have ever had him undergo. And he's

Talk of Atom War With Russia Flares

Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Talk of atomic war with Russia, including a preventive attack on her before she can drop the first bomb, is reaching unprecedented proportions. Significantly, some of it comes from among the nation's lawmakers, elected by the people to express their views in the shaping of American policy. Should it be considered indicative of a possible profound change in the traditional thinking of certainly been through the mill. Quarzazate, French Morocco, May 29—Went into the grocery business today to transform the desert into a thriving 13th century market place. Purchased 100 gross of tomatoes, 5,000 oranges, 2,000 heads of squash, etc. Bargained the Arabs down, but still can't figure out whether I was the sucker or they were.

Warwick Castle, England, June 23—Got the Earl of Warwick to lend us his castle and grounds for some of the Saxon-Norman conflict scenes, but found we'll have to build a drawbridge. The Earl tells me that when we lower the new drawbridge for the rescue scene, it will mark the first time a drawbridge has been lowered over the moat of this castle since 1643. Not only do we make a movie, but history as well.

Allington Castle, England, July 9—Just received the figures on the total number of props we have used on "The Black Rose." Included are 150 tents, 12,000 arrows, 1,000 bows, 500 shields, 500 helmets and breastplates, 200 lances, 300 swords, 68 saddles, 72 ornamental Chinese dragons and several score lions and tiger skins.

New York City, August 28—Arrived here with Thomas Costain's novel on film after three and a half years of work. My thanks to the hundreds of researchers, technicians, crew and cast who made this possible. "The Black Rose," a Twentieth Century Fox Technicolor production starring Tyrone Power, Orson Welles and Cecil Aubrey, starts at the Rialto Theatre Sunday.

Americans, always averse to fighting? If such a trend is setting in, the sole cause for it is Russia herself. Nothing but fear of Communist aggression, culminating in attack upon the United States, could compel Americans to abandon deliberately soft and abundant peacetime living for a devastating war. Indeed, the decision to go into the Korean war and to begin general rearmament sprang from the same cause.

The latest discussion of preventive atomic war comes from a member of the senate armed services committee, Senator Russell (D-Ga.). He told reporters yesterday that "to keep on saying to the American people and the world that we will not strike first and that we will wait until our land is desolated and our cities made crematoriums for our dead is just plain foolish." Russell thought the "first two or three bombs ought to hit the Kremlin."

Russell had praised a recent comment by Secretary of the Navy Francis P. Matthews suggesting preventive war as one way to "compel peace." Unhappily for Matthews, he had neither the freedom nor immunity of a senator. The state department, with White House approval, said the comment didn't reflect American policy.

Other senators had talked earlier about atomic war. Senator Olin D. Johnson (D-SC), told a Los Angeles audience Wednesday he thought the U. S. should serve notice on Russia that her next act of aggression would mean this country would "tear the fight to the very heart of Communist aggression, Russia itself."

Before that Senator Long (D-La.) had cautioned that instead of expecting a war might occur in the next six, eight or ten years "a lot of us realize we better lower our sights and expect that war might occur within the next year or the next two years, probably more likely one than two." When that comes, he said, "15 to 30 of our larger cities will have atomic bombs dropped on them" in the first week or two.

For about 30 years early in the 19th Century, small American hand-glass cup plates commemorated in pictures and lettering everything of headline interest concerning American ships.

GOP to Make Most of 'Mistakes'

Chicago, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Republican leaders optimistically counted today on a national committee prediction they can gain control of congress if they make the most of Democratic "mistakes." A congressional campaign executive appraised the party's chances, as of today, at a minimum gain of six senate and 40 house seats Nov. 7. But he said the ball is just starting to roll. His minimum estimate would not be enough to control either house. But it would give the GOP a tie in the senate seats, 48-49—assuming no incumbent Republicans lose. The Democrats now have a 54-42 edge.

The national campaign executive, A. B. Hermann, taking a "hardheaded and coldblooded" view, said three of 13 GOP senators seeking reelection are having trouble. Guy G. Gabrielson, a national chairman, however, said the voters everywhere are in favor of the Republicans. The voters are safe at the Democrats, he declared, and tired of President Truman's "admitted mistakes."

In 1946, he said, the voters declared they had "had enough," but this year they are saying "we've had too much." Gabrielson spoke last night before top Republican leaders from 13 states. A 20-state "central region" GOP conference is ending today and young Republicans are meeting tomorrow.
